Biggest Attempt to Aid Europe's Needy Will Employ 1,000 Workers

The biggest one-day clothing collection ever staged in the Main Line area will take place this Saturday, when 400 cars and more than a thousand volunteer workers canvass every home in Lower Merion Township and the Borough of Narberth.

Householders, who have been prepared for weeks for the culmination of the drive, have been asked to wrap donations in bundles and place them on the front porches to ease the work of the collectors. Items desired include all types of clothing for all ages; bedding, shoes tied in pairs, children's books, toys, games, dolls, school supplies, seeds, steel or silver tableware, kitchen utensils, linens, candles and candle stubs, bicycles, ladies' handbags, felt hats, bar soap, sewing supplies, galoshes, all kinds of hand tools and toilet supplies.

Divided into five sections, the area will be covered by two-man teams in automobiles for a period of seven hours. During the afternoon workers will load three eight-ton trucks from Church World Service at New Windsor, Md., which has been donated by Autocar Company of Ardmore. The trucks will proceed to New Windsor to be unloaded, and the packages will then be shipped overseas to help the needy in 35 foreign countries.

In case the collection exceeds the capacity of the trucks, storage depots were set up at St. Mary's Church, the Ardmore Woman's Club, Bryn Mawr War Memorial Building, St. John's Church in Cyn-

Ardmore Vet Acquitted

Ralph E. McKinsey, of Ardmore Ave., Ardmore, was acquitted of a drunken driving charge by a jury before Judge William F. Dannehower in Montgomery County Court last week. He was ordered to pay the costs.

A twice-wounded and malaria-suffering World War 2 veteran, McKinsey was arrested by Lower Merion Township police on Lancaster Ave., Ardmore, last December 6.

A fine of $100 and costs were imposed on William W. Cady, Jr., of Philadelphia, after he pleaded guilty before Judge Dannehower to charges of failing to stop and identify himself at an accident scene at Haverford and Morris Rds., Wynnewood, January 3.

Cady's car had struck another automobile at the intersection, and after telling the other driver that he was going to pull his car over to the side of the road, Cady drove off.

Local members of the committee include Charles E. Ebert and George Friedland, of Merion; Erwin A. Stuebner, of Gladwyn; Harold W. Brightman, of Wynnewood; Walter H. Annenberg, Mrs. H. Hoffman Dolan, Eugene Hourdy, Percy C. Madeira, Jr., Orus J. Matthews and Frederick C. Peters, all of Ardmore; Mrs. John Y. Huber, Jr., William Park and C. H. Zoller, all of Haverford; Dr. Ralph S. Bromer, E. K. Daly, Morris Duane, Frank C. P. McGlinn, Mrs. Edward C. Page and John S. Zinner, all of Bryn Mawr.

Roberts Named to Brotherhood Post

Owen J. Roberts will serve as chairman for Brotherhood Week in Philadelphia. It was announced this week. The week will open Sunday, February 22 (Washington's Birthday) and close Sunday, February 29.

Proclamations are being issued by both Mayor Bernard J. Samueli and Governor James H. Duff, asking that all citizens and organizations observe Brotherhood Week, which is sponsored by the National Council of Christians and Jews.

The Fellowship Commission of Philadelphia and radio station WFIL will open Brotherhood Week with a special edition of their program, "Within Our Gates," Sunday, February 22, at 11 a. m. Sylvia James has written the script for this program, titled, "My Brother's Keeper."

This will portray the efforts and lifelong interest of Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes on behalf of the Brotherhood of all men, and civil rights for all citizens of this country.

Herbert F. Goodrich, chairman of the Philadelphia Round-Table of the NCCJ, will follow the radio play with a two-minute speech titled "Brotherhood—Pattern for Peace."

Sixty regional offices of the National Council of Christians and Jews will reproduce "My Brother's Keeper," following its Philadelphia premiere, the Council announced.

College Whirl

"I'll pass on a few bits of news I've heard before returning to 'A Statistical Analysis of the Supreme Court under Mr. Chief Justice Taney.' Sound like fun?"

It's nice to have John Fricke back home again after all the time he spent in Japan. John expects to go to Wesleyan University, in Middletown, Connecticut, this fall. He couldn't possibly pick a better college.

Gwen Stose brought back memories of my younger days when she told me what fun she had, going to hear Maurice Chevalier, on a date with a Phi Delta Theta from M.I.T. the other weekend. The nicest college party, bar none, which I ever attended was at the Phi Delta Theta at M.I.T. Each year the Phi Delta Theta give a "Hell Dance," and they couldn't do a better job of decorating a fraternity house to make it look like the Inferno. If Gwen's date was as nice as all the boys were in Phi Delta then, she's a lucky girl. But Wesleyan girls are lucky anyhow, with so many men to choose from that they can avoid having to date Harvard men.

More of our high school friends are joining the married set. You know, of course, that Nellie Vasline had just been wed, and I hear that Margaret Lathan got married in Richmond to a boy from here. Did you know that Bob Smith was chosen honor man of his company at the completion of his boot training at Great Lakes?

Wonder what it's like to have a job and be away from exams, and crazy hours and all the other discomforts of college? Meaning that I'm in a mood to envy Don Baxter, who decided a year or so ago that he'd rather work in the brokerage business than continue for a degree at Yale. He seems delighted.

Hearts Are Trumps as Feb. 14 Looms

And Don't Forget--It's Leap Year!

Love that Valentine?

Or does the very sight of a heart-shaped box of chocolates or a coy cardboard billet-doux leave you rigid with indifference?

In either case, you might be interested to know that the whole thing, this yearly expression of sentiment for sentiment's sake, grew out of the arrest of a Good Gray Monk. That's the way they tell it, anyway, although the Encyclopedia cautions notes that "there are several conflicting accounts of the origin of St. Valentine's Day."

According to the most widely accepted story, then, the day commemorates an early Christian monk, Valentine, who managed to get so thoroughly into the hair of his pagan overlords that they decided to give him a cooling-off period in the local cooler. The jailer's daughter, fortunately, was attracted to the Christian religion; and in order to help Valentine in his plans to escape she used to smuggle notes and packages to him.

It seemed a good idea, however, to keep the authorities from thinking her motive was religious; so her notes were always marked "To My Valentine." And that particular kind of high-minded sentiment is still abroad, if you will believe the verses rampant on today's epistles. (Don't ask us whether he finally escaped, Mabel; you have an encyclopedia of your own.)

The early Britons, no slouches!

ML Playhouse to Present "Laura"

"Winkie" Van Lennep to Play Title Role March 20

Florence "Winkie" Van Lennep, of Ardmore, will play the title role in "Laura," to be presented Saturday, March 20, in Lower Merion High School auditorium by the Main Line Playhouse.

The male leads will be portrayed by Bob Teer, of Wynnewood, as Mark McPherson, and Charles W. Tindle, of Haverford, as Waldo Leidecker.

Miss Van Lennep, a member of Plays and Players, Aidan Park Players and the Wayne Footlights, has had directing experience and has done radio television work in New York.

Teter, who appeared in a play produced by ANTA over WIP Saturday night, played the part of David in the Main Line Playhouse production of "Claudia" and directed "Papa Is All."

Tindle directed "Here Today" and is a member of the Aidan Park Players, Plays and Players, the Savoy Opera Company and the Barclay Players.

Other members of the "Laura" cast include Mrs. Dell Poore, of Penn Valle, as Mrs. Dorgan; Mrs. Frank DeLone, of Ardmore, as Bessie; John Meagher, of Haverford, as Danny Dorgan; and Leo McDermott, of Ardmore, as Shelby Carpenter.

The next playhouse meeting will be held Tuesday at 8:30 P. M. in the Narberth School auditorium, when a one-act play will be presented under the direction of Richard Scot, of Ardmore.

School Festival Set for Radnor

Haverford, L. Merion to Take Part in Concert

The annual musical festival of the Southeastern division, Pennsylvania School Association, will be held Sunday, February 15, at 3 p. m. in Radnor High School auditorium. Musicians selected from nineteen schools in suburban Philadelphia will participate.

Paul Tesl, director of music at Radnor High School, will be host for the festival, and Andrew R. French, of Lower Merion High School, heads the orchestra committee. Serving on this committee are D. Ray Yerger, Haverford; David Haupt, Upper Darby; Elwood Meller, Springfield, (Delaware County); Robert Holmes, Swarthmore; Virginia Smith, Ambler; Walter Sample, Phoenixville, and Stanley Gray, Treduffin-Easttown.

Margaret Chandler, of Haverford Township High School, will play a cello solo, and Richard Maryott, of Lower Merion High School, will play a violin solo.

The program includes "La Belle Helene," by Offenbach-Greissle; Schubert's "Unfinished" (No. 8), symphony; "Praeludium," by Jarnfelt; "Concerto Grosso in G Minor," by Francesco Geminiani; "Hillbilly," Gould; "Jazz Pizzicato," Anderson, and "Phaon," by Johnson.

Schools which contributed musicians to the festival include Springfield, (Delaware County), Radnor, Haverford Township, Upper Darby, Phoenixville, Norristown, Swarthmore, Lower Merion, Yeadon, Lansdowne, Sharon Hill, Ambler, Spring City, Hatboro, Coatesville, Treduffin-Easttown and Media.

Labor unions do not think the entry of 100,000 each year for a period of four years, as provided by the bill, will create unemployment, because unemployment is caused by social adjustment, not number of workers. Veterans disagree.

Dr. White pointed out that it is a business proposition to bring that many over and let them earn their own living, because it costs the U. S. too much in dollars and in political relations to keep them in concentration camps.

Rev. Elmer Thompson, executive director, International House, Philadelphia, explains present immigration laws and the provisions of the Stratton Bill, which, he said, has not been brought out for action in the Senate, and asked the audience if they favor it to write to chairman of the Senate committee, Alexander Wiley, of Wisconsin, to ask that it be brought out for consideration.

PAOLI LOCALS DELAYED

Paoli locals were delayed from 15 minutes to half an hour Monday morning after there was a mechanical failure on one car of a train leaving Paoli at 7:28 A. M. The disabled car was shifted to a St. David siding and the train reached Suburban Station 30 minutes late. Three subsequent trains were 25, 20 and 15 minutes late.

Hit-Run Driver Held for Court

Passenger Fell From Car After Accident

Arthur McGinnis, 22, of 7108 Pennarth Rd., Bywood, charged with hit-run driving, was held in $500 bail for Montgomery County Court Monday night, at a hearing before Justice of the Peace Joseph B. Allen, Jr.

Lower Merion police said McGinnis crashed into a parked car on Montgomery Ave., Penn Valley, and failed to stop even after a passenger in his car fell from the moving vehicle.

McGinnis was driving east on Montgomery Ave., shortly after midnight Saturday, police said, when he struck a car parked near Essex Ave. The force of the impact threw Francis J. Ellis, 21, of Upper Darby, out of McGinnis' car and spun the vehicle around in the opposite direction.

Witnesses told police the car then sped west on Montgomery Ave. and turned onto Essex Ave. The automobile was found by police on the sidewalk at Essex Ave., near Wynedale Rd., a few blocks from the scene of the accident.

Ellis was taken to Bryn Mawr Hospital in a police ambulance and treated for abrasions of the forehead.

Joint Meeting Discusses DP's

The American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars are opposed to the Bill for Displaced Persons and the labor unions are for it, it was brought out at a meeting on the United Nations Council of Philadelphia, the Foreign Policy Association and the League of Women Voters Monday evening at First Presbyterian Church, Ardmore.

Dr. Gilbert F. White, president of Haverford College, who discussed arguments for and against admission on the panel, said that the veterans' organizations opposed admission because of the housing shortage in this country.

Proponents argue, he said, that friends who ask for their entry will have to vouch for their housing, that 100,000 more housing units are provided each year, and that 18,000 of those who want to enter are construction workers who will improve housing.

Labor unions do not think the entry of 100,000 each year for a period of four years, as provided by the bill, will create unemployment, because unemployment is caused by social adjustment, not number of workers. Veterans disagree.

Dr. White pointed out that it is a business proposition to bring that many over and let them earn their own living, because it costs the U. S. too much in dollars and in political relations to keep them in concentration camps.

Rotary Hears Robert Landes

Director Speaks on Life of Lincoln

Robert C. Landes, principal of the Conshohocken School and a director of the Conshohocken Rotary Club, was guest speaker Tuesday following the luncheon meeting of the Bala-Cynwyd-Narberth Rotary Club at the Overbrook Golf Club.

Landes, who was introduced by W. J. Drennen, discussed the life of Abraham Lincoln. Many of his traits, if applied to our life today, he said, would help solve seemingly insuperable difficulties. These include his incomparable honesty and his constant application of the Golden Rule.

"Lincoln will go down in history," he said, "not simply as the man who freed the slaves, but as the preserver of the Union."

Organize County Welfare Council

Complete organization of the Montgomery County District of the Health and Welfare Council, Inc., a Red Feather Service, was announced last week by John B. Dawson, executive director of the Council.

The Council engages in health and welfare planning and the development and maintenance of social and health services in Philadelphia, Delaware and Montgomery Counties.

Dawson announced the appointment of Lowell E. Wright as director of the Montgomery County District, with headquarters in Rooms 53 and 55 in the Montgomery Trust Arcade, Norristown. Wright, who will take over his duties this month, is a graduate of the New York School of Social Work and is at present Associate Director of Community Service, Inc., at Antioch College.

Heading the recently organized county district committee are H. Nelson Reifsnider, of Norristown, chairman; Mrs. Roger Hollowell, of Fort Washington, and Robert S. Seal, of Llanerch, vice-chairmen; and Robert M. Myers, executive secretary of the Main Line Federation of Churches, recording secretary.

Local members of the committee include James Gardiner and Frederick C. Peters, of Ardmore; and Mrs. Thomas Mills, of Cynwyd.

New Building Site Needed For Boro Post Office

Facilities Inadequate For 36-Year-Old Branch Office

The Narberth Post Office, located at 117 Essex Ave. for almost 36 years, has outgrown its present building, and postal authorities are seeking larger quarters for the 36-year-old branch office, it was disclosed this week by Joseph L. Kelley, Postmaster.

A notice was posted in the lobby last Thursday asking bids for suitable quarters in the borough. Specifications include a five or ten-year lease starting August 20, heating, lighting, power, water, toilet facilities, plumbing, heating and light fixtures, all necessary furniture and equipment, and safe and/or vault.

Kelley pointed out Monday that the local post office needs more space. "We now have approximately 2,150 square feet," he said. "We would like to have at least 3,000 square feet."

The present building includes the lobby, general office and financial section, postmaster's office and workroom. Kelley said that if the post office remains in its present location, the workroom at the rear will be reorganized to better utilize the space available.

The borough post office was established May 21, 1892, and operated from a portion of the railroad station ticket office. It later moved to Haverford Rd. and Station Circle, where the Nash Realty Co. is now located. On August 19, 1928, it moved to the present building.

Since Kelley's arrival the Narberth branch has been advanced from second to first class status, and the number of customers has increased more than 100 percent, so that it now totals approximately 12,000. There are 23 employees.

The first postmaster was Mrs. Elizabeth Ketchum, who served in office until 1906. Others, who served in the intervening years, and their terms, include George W. McClauslin, 1906-1910; Joseph Mollinoux, Jr., 1910-1913; Edgar S. Haws, 1913-1922; Frederick C. Patton, 1922-1926; J. Bertram Nesper, 1926-1935.

The borough officials stated, however, that even if the increased millage rate is not approved by the court, the additional police appropriation will not be cut from the budget.

Borough policemen received an increase last year when the patrolmen were granted an additional $100 and the sergeant $150. The present raise will bring the salaries to $3400 for the sergeant, $3150 for grade A policemen and $3075 for grade B policemen.

The borough has one sergeant, two grade A policemen and two grade B patrolmen. One of the men, Jacob MacKeown, was recently promoted to grade B patrolman after passing required tests.

Students Receive Degrees at Princeton College

Four Main Line students received degrees at commencement exercises held recently at Princeton University. They were:

Edward R. Carpenter, of Haverford; Alexander C. Fernandez, of Bala-Cynwyd, bachelor of arts; Ernest A. Bailey, Jr., of Narberth, bachelor of science in engineering; and Homer H. Hewitt, 3d, of Wynnewood, associate in art.

Red Cross Sets $200,000 Goal

Mrs. Siter Owen to Head Fund Drive for ML Unit

A goal of $200,000 has been set as the Main Line American Red Cross Branch's contribution to the 1948 Red Cross Fund Drive, which will get underway by the end of the month.

Mrs. Siter Owen, of Cherry Lane and Keltwood Rds., Wynnewood, who will again head the local campaign, this week stressed the tremendous amount of work involved in the drive.

"Our branch has always covered far more territory than any other branch in the Southeastern Pennsylvania Chapter," she said. "Now that Bala-Cynwyd has been included, we cover the area from Little and Mrs. G. O. Fletcher, of Narberth; Mrs. Carl L. Miller, Jr., of Penn Valley; Mrs. Walter Baker, of Penn Valley; Mrs. Jesse T. Nicholson and Mrs. William D. Watson, of Haverford; Mrs. Alfred H. Geary and Mrs. John Mayer.

Narberth Radio Actress to Talk

Nancy Graham Simpson, of 201 Woodside Ave., Narberth, lecturer and radio actress, will speak on "Voice and Speech, Its Importance in the World of Today," at a meeting of the Narberth Parent-Teachers Association, to be held at 8:15 P. M. Monday in the school auditorium.

Miss Simpson will also present a demonstration of exercises designed to aid the individual in self-improvement of his or her speech mechanism. A lecture period will follow the discussion.

A graduate of Narberth Public School and of Lower Merion High School, Miss Simpson received her bachelor's degree in literary interpretation from Emerson College, Boston. She has since worked in the transcription department of WCAU and as a speech instructor at the John Robert Power School, Philadelphia.

At the present time she is devoting her time to lecture work and man-of-theatre entertainment, as well as doing free lance work in radio acting and giving individual instruction in speech and dramatics.

THINKING OUT LOUD

Copyright 1946 by CHARLES A. WRIGHT

Write Your Own Valentines

What with the high prices this year, some of you fellows and girls may want to make your own Valentines, so we offer without extra cost our Course in Writing Original Verses. Once you've written a nifty verse, all you have to do is draw a heart, color it red, and you've created a Valentine that in time may be a collectors' item.

For instance, all you have to do is to take a girl's or boy's name, find a couple of words to rhyme with it, and fill in the rest of the lines to fit. Maybe her name is Pearl. Well, see how easy it is:

I send this rhyme to darling Pearl
Because she is the only girl
Who keeps my brain in such a whirl
I love you only, darling Pearl.

Isn't that good? And we thought it up right out of our own head. You, too, can do as well. What's more, it's a very flexible verse. If your girl's name isn't Pearl, you can use it for Beryl, or even, by a bit of poetic license, for Abigail. (Pronounced Abi-gur-l.) Or you can do a little switcheroo, like this:

I send this rhyme to darling May
Because I like the way you play
The ukulele; in every way
I love you only, darling May.

Notice that if she doesn't play the ukulele, you can change it to read "play the piano," or "play contract bridge," or "play Oklahoma," or "play spin-the-plate" (that's a nice game). This verse has lots of uses. We wish to suggest, though, that if you're sending out one Valentine to your one-and-only Pearl and one to your one-and-only May, be careful not to get the envelopes mixed. Some girls don't like that sort of thing.

Just looking around us and picking out a hat, sort of, we come up with these nifties:

There's no one quite as sad as
Us when we're not with you, Gladys.
We really have to tell the truth—
We love you only, darling Ruth.
We're saving all our love for you;
Our sweet, demure, and dainty Sue.
(This also does for Mary Lou.)
In all this wide world's hurly burly,
We love but one, and that is Shirley.

Project A-1 in our life's plan
Is being with you, darling Ann.

What with all the girls around named Nancy, we foresee a big demand for this one:

Life could be a happy dance
With you as partner, darling Nancy.
I wouldn't want a girl too fancy,
You suit me fine, beloved Nancy.

It's a bit harder if her name is Josephine. It's pretty hard to find a word to rhyme with Josephine, but don't think you have to get a new girl because of that. Instead of making the rhyme on her name, war was declared April 27. Today,

Golf Club Sold To Investors

The Overbrook Golf Club, one of the oldest clubs of the Main Line, was sold this week by Harris and Bunting, of Cynwyd.

The club, chartered in 1900, covers 93 acres, and is located between Lancaster Ave. and City Line, in Overbrook. The property is adjacent to St. Charles Borromeo Seminary, Friends Central School, The Eastern Baptist Theological Seminary, and the Green Hill Farms Apartments.

Under the presidency of Delbert B. Gray, of 108 Linwood Ave., Ardmore, the club has a membership of 500. Officials of the club have stated that the golf course will be open until the fall.

The property, sold for $500,000, is zoned for single residential homes. The buyers, a group of investors, were represented for the sale by Kniskern-Breen-Voorhes, Inc., of Philadelphia, and G. M. B. Watts, also of Philadelphia.

Tentative plans made by the buyers, include construction of over 250 single homes on the property. The zoning in the area is R-2, which requires a lot of 10,000 square feet for each home.

The transaction is reported to represent the largest sale of land along the Main Line in four years.

Voters' League Short of Quota

Women's Group Sees 30% of $2500 Goal

The third annual financial drive of the League of Women Voters of Lower Merion Township will close Monday with only 30 percent of the $2500 goal reached. Mrs. James P. Carroll, of Penn Valley, announced this week.

Mrs. Carroll, chairman of the drive, made her report at a general meeting on Federal Aid to Education held Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. William T. Dickinson, of Overbrook.

Discussion at the meeting centered on the pros and cons of Federal aid, and was under the direction of William G. Avirett, education director of the New York Herald Tribune, and Miss Catherine M. Chaplin, legislative chairman of the Philadelphia Teachers' Association. The speakers were introduced by Mrs. Thomas L. Kane, of Merion, president of the League.

Avirett stated that Federal aid was needed because state taxes must be used to aid municipalities, and are not enough for all schools. He pointed out that Federal aid can be administered through the states to avoid danger of centralization.

He also cited three arguments against the measure: (1) the government should reduce its debt and not add to it, because we must meet the Marshall plan generously, and we may have to pay also for military training; (2) a conservative national administration might be replaced by one which would attempt to control educational policy, and (3) the people should raise money for better education if they believe in it.

Miss Chaplin explained two bills, now pending which deal with Federal Aid. She said that by 1950 there will be such a shortage of teachers because of a lack of interest in obtaining training and the lack of basic education that the schools will not be adequately staffed.

College Whirl

with his job, and very interested in brokerage. Don's engaged to Martha Duke, as I guess you know.

Now that everybody except me is finished with exams, I hear a lot of people worrying about the fact that spring vacations at different colleges don't coincide, and as a result, it won't be possible to see everyone when we get home on vacation. A vacation running from March 25 to 31 seems most common, although Mary Anne Zeigler will be off from Agnes Scott from the 17th to the 23rd of March, and Betty Jane Zebley and her classmates at Centre College will travel in a long holiday, from March 25 until April 5. Betty says that she didn't get enough A's to suit her the first term, but that her grades were good nonetheless, and that she has a wonderful schedule. When people tell me that they have a wonderful schedule, does that mean that they're taking interesting courses, or easy courses, or practical courses, or does it mean, as it does with me, that they don't have any Friday or Saturday classes, and no classes before noon. Sleep is such a pleasant thing.

Valentine

good deal to the generally heightened feelings expressed. It is always somewhat easier to liken the lady of one's choice to a star-eyed Madonna, a creature half-human, wholly divine, when there is no possible chance that you will one day be haggling over the price of a new hat versus a set of golf clubs with said Divinity.

Well, after the age of the Pillars of the art of love took a nosedive from which it did not recover until the advent of the late Queen Victoria. Swains still went through the motions, every February 14, but then it had become so automatic that publishing companies issued pamphlets from which a gentleman could choose a sentiment by number, copy it in a flowing Spencerian script and speed it to the waiting lady—who was no doubt as bored with the whole thing as the Party of the First Part. A pamphlet of the day includes well-wishes for such diversified femininity as "To a Lady With Protruding Teeth," "To a Lady Who Hath An Ill Lock," and "To One Who Is Plain But Worth." You paid your money and you took your choice.

Then along came the Victorians. Once more love was wrapped in mauve and scented with delicate eau de cologne. Ladies were coy, gentlemen Byronic, and the Big Thing was to rush into print as fast as possible. You hardly go so far as to say that sentiments were expressed with one eye on the royalty check—but still, love was less a matter between two individuals than between a gentleman-poet, his pedestal Ideal, and the first good publisher who happened along. Keats even managed to do handsomely by a Greek he found on a vase.

We will skip over the Terrible Twenties; everybody was mourning for the Lost Generation, then, and it was considered poor taste to express a positive feeling for anything, much less the object of one's desire. The thirties were spent in a frantic scramble to Make Money—before the Next Crash, and the early Forties... well, you remember the early Forties.

Admit Looting Two Wynnewood Homes

A pair of Philadelphia brothers, who were surprised by Yeadon police Saturday while burglarizing a Yeadon home, admitted looting two Wynnewood homes after being held for questioning.

Plan Petition For Rezoning Gladwyne Residents Against Small Homes

A number of Gladwyne residents will petition the Lower Merion Township Commissioners Wednesday night to rezone a portion of the community in order to prevent the future erection of any small homes, multiple dwellings or business locations.

If granted, the request will limit practically all of the central section of Gladwyne to R-1 residence category, which requires 30,000 square feet of ground for each home, large setbacks and maximum floor space.

Covering approximately one-quarter of Lower Merion Township, Gladwyne is already largely zoned R-1, and if the proposal is passed it will mean the second banning of small homes by a township community. A large portion of Merion was rezoned to R-1 a few months ago.

The section under discussion is largely the northeastern section of Conshohocken State Rd., between Waverly and Greaves Lane (extended) to a depth of 1,000 feet. There are also some contiguous sections and a westerly strip on State Rd., between Bryn Lane and Greaves Lane through to Righters Mill Rd.

George Hosterman, district executive of the Boy Scouts of America, was principal speaker. He was accompanied by Boy Scouts Beedle Fiero and Ted Seymour, who also attended the recent Boy Scout World Jamboree in France.

L. Merion Plays Abington, Fords In Section One

Still attempting to close the gap on Norristown's fast-flying Eagles, Lower Merion High will play Abington this Friday in Downs Gymnasium in one of three remaining Section One games.

The Merionites will play Haverford High at home the following Tuesday, February 17, in their second encounter of the season. The first was a scorching contest and an equally exciting game is expected this time.

Hopelessly outclassed by unbeaten Norristown in their last meeting, L. Merion will have another opportunity to upend the Eagles on Tuesday 22 in their concluding league game. At this writing, Lower Merion is trailing Norristown by two full games and must win over the Eagles—while some other league member duplicates—if they are to salvage a title tie.

A school scoring record crashed last Friday as Tommy Davis, lean forward and football quarterback, banked 32 points in Lower Merion's 54-37 win over Upper Darby. The game was played at Ardmore.

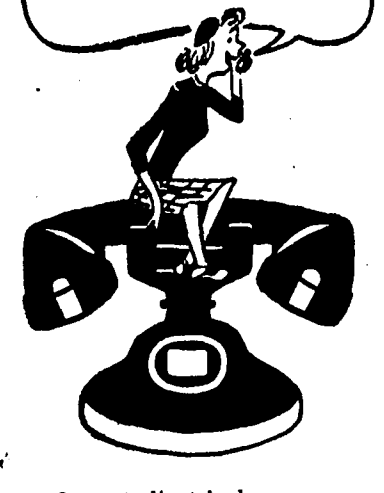

Davis, who has been blaring scoring honors with teammate Len Shephard all season, cranked the 1st M. record set a few years back by Don Evans, now a Main Line League performer. Evans had held the mark with 30 points; Davis dropped 12 field goals and eight fouls to total 32.

The son of Dr. Lardie Davis, former Penn great, cracked Upper Darby's defenses almost at will, splitting the zone asunder with slick set shots and lightning lay-ups. Lending a helping hand in the assault was Marsten with seven points and Cappelli with six.

In an inter-league game, Lower Merion snapped Radnor's victory streak at Ardmore by posting a pulse-tingling 36-35 triumph. The irrepressible Davis again enacted a starring role, scoring a foul loss in the final minute to provide the winning margin.

Davis also enabled L. M. to come from behind against the Section Two titlists by converting nine fouls and three field goals for 15 points. John Sloan was Radnor's chief threat with 11 points.

RESURGENT BROOKS PLAY STEELERS HERE MONDAY; L. M. VETS AT NARBERTH

By HARRY ELLSWORTH

Brookline injected some much-needed adrenalin into its Main Line League playoff hopes Monday night by upsetting a favored Lower Merion team, 10-7, in a game that was a real battle. The victory increased its lead to two full games over the Coatesville team, which was whipping stubborn Wayne, 64-57.

The Brooks, who staged a tremendous February drive to gain the playoffs last year, trailed the Vets most of the way, but Jimmy Laferriere, held scoreless from the field for most of the game, broke loose for a field goal and a touchdown to break a 58-14 deadlock and win for Herb Good's team.

Wayne rallied from a 10-point halftime deficit to give the flying Orioles a rough moment before bowing to the league leaders. It was the 12th win in a row for Norristown, placing it one game behind Coatesville's record of 15 in a row and two games away from the all-time record of 14.

Elkins Park's playoff hopes remained alive as the York Roaders, paced by George Armstrong and Earl Handrick, outlasted their neighbors, Jenkintown, 44-43.

The Parkers are a game and a half behind fifth-place Brookline, and the Brooks are a nice half game behind Narberth at this writing.

There is action aplenty this week. Coatesville, which has been idle as Norristown increased its lead, visits Haverford Junior High on Monday night to play Brookline in the feature of a three-game schedule.

Coatesville holds a 2-1 lead in the season series, but the team's strength in their playoff hopes by a victory.

Norristown will attempt to increase its lead at the expense of Haverford, which is looking for a high in a battle that will probably settle the question of whether the Italian-Americans or the All-Stars will reside in the loop basement.

On Tuesday night, Narberth and the Lower Merion Veterans go to it at Bala-Cynwyd Junior High in their fourth and final meeting of the season. The contest, which won all three contests, two wins coming on narrow two and three-point margins.

Brookline, fighting desperately for that fourth playoff berth, have improved greatly since they last tackled the Vets and are riding on a three-game winning streak. Harry DeSota, Tony Paine and Harry Middleton form one of the highest scoring threesomes in the league.

Moyn Mullin, Bink Manning and Don Evans have carried the burden of the attack for the third-place Maroon and player-coach George Paine has displayed fine floormanship.

The Vets return to the Lower Merion High floor on Wednesday night, meeting Elkins Park, while Jenkintown goes to Coatesville to play Dick Slider's big, bad Steelers.

Two contests finish the season on Thursday night. Norristown, hopeful that its winning streak will still be alive, plays host to Narberth at the Stewart Armory. Although giving the advantage of their home floor, the Orioles will have to go all out against Jiggs Torchiana's inspired Blue and Gold warriors.

Brookline after a series of scuffles with the league's elite, plays Wayne at Radnor High School on Thursday. The Brooks won't be taking the seventh place Italian-Americans too lightly for Tony Arena's kids clipped the Brooks' wings earlier in the season.

Snow curtailed last Wednesday's scheduled postponing of Lower Merion's tiff with Wayne and Elkins Park's visit to Coatesville. Norristown, however, managed to play Brookline and hand the Brooks a 58-46 defeat before a packed house in Norristown.

On the following night, the Orioles whipped Jenkintown, 78-57, despite a sensational shooting exhibition by the All-Stars' Hank Wambold. The ex-Jenkintown High ace tallied 35 points for a new season's scoring mark.

SPORTS SCENE

By JACK FORD

Tommy Davis has been flirting with the 30's all season and it's not surprising that he's now a senior at the University of Pennsylvania. Davis, son of a former Penn court star, hung in 12 field goals and eight fouls. His performance earned the record 30 posted by Don Evans, present Main Line League, a few seasons ago.

Davis didn't make the majority of his field goals from close in. He scored about half of 'em with set shots from all angles, penetrating Upper Darby's defenses with an accuracy which had the Royals talking to themselves.

The Upper Darby zone proved no great puzzle to Tommy; he simply popped away at every opening and collected more than a fair share of returns on his efforts.

The L. M. ace seems to have a knack for monopolizing the spotlight. He stepped in and took command against Radnor High, converting the game-clinching foul in the final seconds as L. M. registered a 36-35 victory.

Don't be surprised if both Davis, who also starred as football quarterback and teammate Len Shepherd—two-time All-Scholastic gridders—move on to Georgia when they leave Lower Merion. We hear that the Southern school has been making overtures—and both have expressed more than passing interest.

Villanova Varieties

Jack Crossin Villanova ace, who starred as basketball star, ex-Penn captain with the pro Philadelphia Warriors. They both carry No. 4.

Browning Ross, Villanova's diminutive sophomore miler, regards Forest Eflaw, the ex-Oklahoma Aggies distance star, as one of the country's best. Eflaw, who is a Brookline resident, is a strong contender in the Olympics.

Three former Villanova basketball stars completed their degree requirements in January preparatory to heading South for spring training with minor league teams. Frank O'Neill will bid with Mobile, a Brooklyn farm. Dan Casey and Bill Smith will train with Utica, of the Phillies' club.

Little Fords Play Upper Darby After Defeating Bala, 45-26

Haverford Junior High's fast-breaking basketball team will travel to Upper Darby Junior High this Friday afternoon to seek its ninth victory in 11 starts.

The Little Fords, nearing the end of one of their most successful basketball seasons in history, humbled Bala-Cynwyd Junior High, 45-26, last Friday before an overflow throng.

Haverford stepped into a commanding 20-12 halftime lead, limiting Bala to a pair of field goals. Five out of six foul conversions by Van Syckel kept the invaders in the running, however.

Despite the valiant efforts of Young and Van Syckle in the second half, Haverford's defense again proved virtually impregnable, and Ray Mentzer's charges outscored Bala by a 25-14 margin. Center Howard Lamley led the attack with seven field goals and three fouls for 17 points, while Bob Schwartz scored 13.

The victory proved costly to Haverford, however. Both Schwartz and Jim Carson were injured, and it is doubtful whether the latter, who aggravated an old back injury, will play against Upper Darby.

Things Won't Be the Same Without Herb Pennock

Thousands of words have been said about him already but it can't do any harm to add my nickel's worth.

It happened I was the reporter who confirmed the fact that Herb Pennock was to be the general manager of the Phillies. As soon as Bob Carpenter took over the club, he said he had in mind a man for the place, who was, however, an executive with another club. It took the baseball writers hardly an hour to spot this man as Herb Pennock, a friend of young Carpenter's and a member of the Red Sox farm chain.

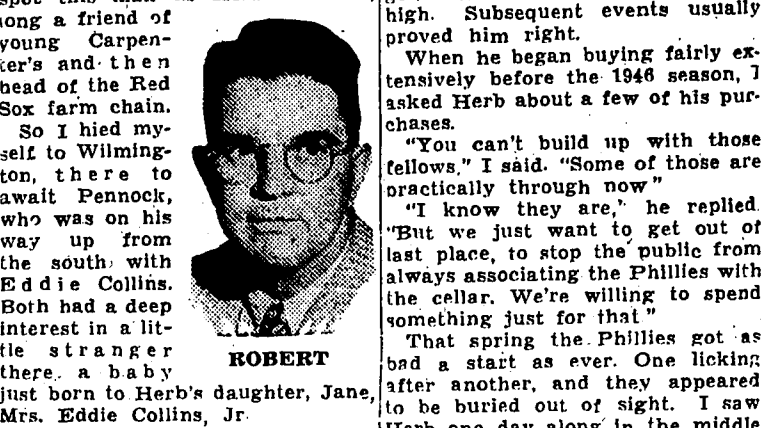

So I hid myself to Wilmington, there to await Pennock, who was on his way up from the south with Ed die Collins.

After that day, I really got to know him. The two grandfathers duly arrived and after giving them a chance to see the new member of the family, I asked Herb about the Phillies and he admitted he would welcome the opportunity provided the Red Sox did not object. Thereupon Collins, then general manager of the Sox, said they would not stand in Herb's way, of course.

I had known Pennock before as a baseball writer knows many men in the game, a casual acquaintance. After that day, I really got to know him.

One of the things that first impressed me about him was his willingness always to listen to the other fellow's viewpoint. Few men in the game know as much about ball players as Pennock did, but he never seemed to think he knew more than you did. He did, of course, but he never made you feel that way.

Because of that, he was one of the few baseball men to whom I ever felt free to offer a suggestion. He was always interested in them and quite often would say: "Yes, we had already considered that ourselves." Others he rejected and some he put into effect.

GETTING THE PHILLIES OUT OF THE CELLAR

Carpenter could not have found a better executive because in addition to trying to build up the Phillies, Herb had Bob's interests at heart, too; he did not throw money away, simply because it was not his own. He passed up a player now and then he would have liked to get, when he found the price too high. Subsequent events usually proved him right.

When he began buying fairly extensively before the 1946 season, I asked Herb about a few of his purchases.

"You can't build up with those fellows," I said. "Some of those are practically through now."

"I know they are," he replied. "But we just want to get out of last place, to stop the public from always associating the Phillies with the cellar. We're willing to spend something just for that."

That spring the Phillies got as bad a start as ever. One licking after another, and they appeared to be buried out of sight. I saw Herb one day along in the middle of May.

"I don't know what it is," I said, "but they can't be that bad. Fellows like McCormick and Tabor and Wyrostek and all just have to play better ball than this."

"I can't understand it," he said. "But hearing you say it makes me feel better. I feel the same way."

I was up there on Memorial Day when they whacked down the Giants twice, about the first time they'd won even two in a row all season. From there, they took off. For five weeks they were the best club in the league. After that, they slowed down but still played good ball. Herb's judgment was vindicated.

But the best thing about Herb was himself. He was always the same, always glad to see you, always a man you were glad to see. When his death came with that unbelievable suddenness, you felt stunned, unable to comprehend. Because it was a part of your own life gone—a part you could never have again.

Chester Opposes Haverford High Passers Friday

Still seeking their first Section One triumph, Haverford High passers will play at Chester this Friday night and meet Lower Merion at Ardmore on Tuesday as they near the end of their league campaign. Only a game with Abington remains after those contests.

The Fords, who met Norristown's title-bound Eagles on Tuesday night at Brookline, still were licking their wounds following the 37-15 defeat at Upper Darby's hands and the 58-47 jolt by Cheltenham.

Reided a decided underdog against Upper Darby's Royals, the fighting Fords went all out and lost only in the last 20 seconds when Bill Padula posted a set shot. It was the second time in the season that Steve Juenger's Fords had been beaten by Upper Darby.

The Fords led, 35-33, with time fast running out when U. D.'s Charles Hoenig hung up two foul calls for the visitors to tie the score. That set the stage for Padula's payoff shot.

Cheltenham registered its sixth league victory in nine tries at the Fords' expense Friday, running up a 23-20 halftime lead and tenaciously clinging to the margin.

Bob Dewiler, with 22 points, sparked the Panthers to victory. He had 10 field goals and two fouls. Bob Jones was the only Haverford player to hit double figures, firing six field goals and a foul for 13 points.

Havertown Five To Meet Devon Here on Monday

Elking out an unexpectedly close 46-46 decision over West Manayunk, Havertown A. A. basketball team advanced a step closer to the Tri-County League championship Monday night at the Brookline court.

Coach Gordon Keen's charges will play Devon next Monday evening at the Haverford floor, in one of the league's games scheduled there. Brookline and Coatesville Steelers also will meet Monday in a Main Line League engagement.

Danny Phipps, former Haverford High athlete and 6-foot-4 1/2 center, paced Havertown to its exciting victory. Phipps poured in nine field goals and three fouls for 21 points to top both teams, although West Manayunk's Jack Gettigan garnered 15.

Ray Edelman accounted for nine Havertown tallies and Bob Scheppman scored six. Both Basile and McClatchy caged six points for the losers and McFarland hoisted nine.

Helveston on Mat

Howard Helveston, former Lower Merion High athlete, is bidding for a berth on Millersville State College wrestling team.

This season, Helveston is alternating at the 155-pound spot with Bob McCooch, of Cheltenham, and Upper Darby's Chuck Bensheller.

Markward Sets ML Scoring Pace For League Lead

Flashy Don Markward, of Coatesville, continued to lead the Main Line League basketball scoring parade as the teams started down the home stretch this week with a 18-game total of 348 points.

Markward has hung up 140 field goals and 68 fouls for a 35-point margin over his nearest pursuer, Narberth's Harry DeSota. The Boroughts has collected 313 points on 116 field goals and 81 foul tosses.

That duo alone has stepped into the 300 mark. In third place, with 279 points, by virtue of 123 points and 32 foul conversions, is another member of Coatesville's Steelers, Gillingier, while Lower Merion Vets' Moon Mullen is fourth with a 220 total.

Victim of an upset 30-28 defeat at the hands of Germantown Academy, Episcopal Academy's basketball team lost ground in its fight for the Interacademy League title.

Penn Charter, by virtue of a 34-28 triumph over Friends Central, tied Episcopal for the league lead with a record of four victories and one reverse.

Dick O'Donnell sent Episcopal lunging to defeat and provided Germantown with its first league victory when he scored a field goal with two and a half minutes remaining. GA missed five foul tries as the score at 24 and 28 before finally succumbing. Casey collected in all 13 points to top both teams.

Three fast field goals by John Casey gave Germantown an 18-13 halftime lead, but Episcopal rallied to tie the score at 24 and 28 before finally succumbing. Casey collected in all 13 points to top both teams.

Sol Tollin, Haverford, Retains Scoring Lead

Sol Tollin, of Haverford College, scored 20 points on Saturday to boost his season's average to 17.9 and thus retain his place at the head of the Philadelphia district college basketball scoring race.

While Tollin strengthened his grasp on first place, Pharmacy's Oscar Grossman managed to retain second place with his 16.8 average. In the place, even though he was outscored in a Saturday twin bill by St. Joseph's Paul Senesky, is Larry Foust, La Salle, with 15.9.

In team scoring, Haverford has completed 377 points against opponents' 379, while Villanova's Wildcats have racked up 1066 against the South, Middle West and the East.

Featuring favorite old melodies and close harmony singing, the Barber Shop Boys will vie for a championship which carries medals in gold, silver and bronze to the winners.
